

Evaluation Date: December 16, 2023

Hello!, here is your meticulously crafted detailed analysis report

7.0

Overall Band Score

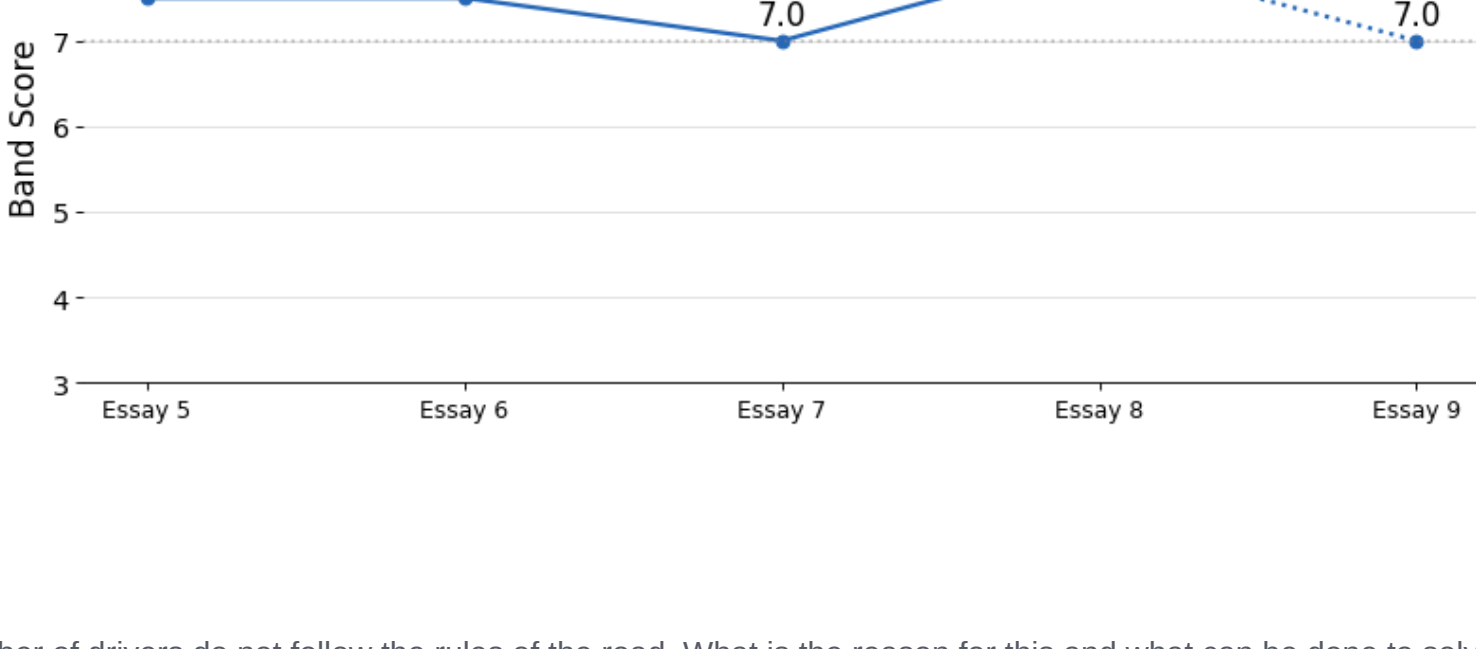

8.0 - Coherence and Cohesion

7.0 - Lexical Resource

7.0 - Task Response

7.0 - Grammatical Range and Accuracy

Your Writing BAND Score Progress

Topic:

Large number of drivers do not follow the rules of the road. What is the reason for this and what can be done to solve this problem?

Essay:

many Many [This sentence does not start with an uppercase letter.] countries countries, [Possible missing comma found.] there is a widespread tendency of systematic disregard for traffic regulations among drivers. From my perspective, the primary cause of this issue is the desire to reach destinations punctually. To address this problem, the government should implement a series of measures - . [Incorrectly used dash or quote characters; Don't put a space before the full stop.]

The impetus to arrive at destinations on time is often the main cause of traffic violations. The urge to reach places promptly compels individuals to overlook traffic regulations. For instance, statistical data reveals a majority of infractions occur during peak hours when individuals are rushing to return home or commute to work. In such scenarios, personal objectives take precedence over adherence to traffic rules. Furthermore, many car drivers engage in multitasking and are preoccupied with various concerns while behind the wheel. This leads to distraction and non-compliance with traffic regulations.

The government can play a pivotal role in mitigating issues associated with traffic infringements. Firstly, an effective measure would be to intensify penalties and accountability for traffic infractions. Imposing substantial fines and revoking driver's licenses compel individuals to exhibit greater responsibility and comply with regulations while driving. Consequently, these measures contribute towards fostering a more responsible attitude among drivers towards observing traffic rules.

Secondly, authorities should facilitate companies and employers in implementing flexible work schedules for their employees. This serves to alleviate stress among individuals and encourages conscientiousness in adhering to regulations while driving. From my standpoint, certain psychological conditions serve as catalysts for driving offenses, and governmental bodies have the potential to preempt such circumstances.

In conclusion, the primary reason for traffic offenses is attributed to multitasking and haste. The enforcement of stringent measures and flexible work schedules contributes towards cultivating a community of chauffeurs who respect road regulations.

▼ Wanna know how to improve your writing band score - Absolutely Free!

Wanna get most out of this report? Book a free 15 minute feedback discuss session with our IELTS expert to discuss your essay and get advice on how to improve your band score

Elevate Your Writing band Score

Click to schedule Now for Free

▼ Coherence Cohersion Feedback - 8.0

Using IELTS grading criteria.

- ✓ Referencing and substitution used
- ✓ Ideas logically sequenced
- ✓ All paragraphs have central topic
- ✓ Essay has clear flow
- ✓ Proper Paragraphing
- ✓ Paragraph Count
- ⬤ Variety of cohesive devices used

The essay lacks a variety of cohesive devices. The student mainly uses repetitive phrases such as 'to address this problem' and 'from my perspective' without incorporating a wider range of cohesive devices like transition words and synonyms to connect ideas and ensure smooth flow. For example, the student could use transition words such as 'furthermore,' 'secondly,' 'in conclusion' to improve the coherence and cohesion of the essay. To avoid this mistake in the future, I recommend practicing the use of a variety of transition words and synonyms to connect ideas and ensure a smooth flow in the essay.

▼ Lexical Resource Feedback - 7.0

Using IELTS grading criteria.

- ✓ Complex phrasing used correctly
- ✓ Variety of words used to prevent repetition
- ✓ The vocabulary used is precise and expressive and fit the topic
- ✓ Spelling and word formation used correctly
- ✓ Formal language used
- ⬤ Collocation (which verb match which noun) used correctly

The essay uses 'widespread tendency' and 'systematic disregard' correctly, but there are instances where the collocations could be improved. For example, 'impetus to arrive' could be replaced with 'desire to arrive' for better collocation. Additionally, 'engaging in multitasking' could be replaced with 'multitasking while driving' for more accurate collocation.

▼ Grammatical Range Accuracy Feedback - 7.0

Using IELTS grading criteria.

- ✓ Variety of sentence structures, including simple, compound, and complex sentences used
- ✓ Used appropriate grammar tenses
- ✓ Major grammatical Errors are avoided
- ⬤ Sentence structures are used appropriately

The essay contains some sentence structure issues. For example, the phrase 'many countries there is a widespread tendency' lacks appropriate sentence structure. It should be 'In many countries, there is a widespread tendency.' The use of 'chauffeurs' is also not appropriate in the context of the essay. It should be 'drivers' instead.

- ⬤ Used punctuation accurately

The essay has some punctuation issues. For example, missing commas in 'Firstly, an effective measure would be to intensify penalties and accountability for traffic infractions.' It should be 'Firstly, an effective measure would be to intensify penalties, and accountability for traffic infractions.'

▼ Improved Rewritten Essay using Your Ideas

Your Rewritten Essay

In many countries, there is a prevalent tendency of systematic disregard for traffic regulations among drivers. From my perspective, the primary cause of this issue is the desire to reach destinations punctually. To address this problem, the government should implement a series of measures.

The impetus to arrive at destinations on time is often the main cause of traffic violations. The urge to reach places promptly compels individuals to overlook traffic regulations. For instance, statistical data reveals that a majority of infractions occur during peak hours when individuals are rushing to return home or commute to work. In such scenarios, personal objectives take precedence over adherence to traffic rules. Furthermore, many car drivers engage in multitasking and are preoccupied with various concerns while behind the wheel. This leads to distraction and non-compliance with traffic regulations.

The government can play a pivotal role in mitigating issues associated with traffic infringements. Firstly, an effective measure would be to intensify penalties and accountability for traffic infractions. Imposing substantial fines and revoking driver's licenses compel individuals to exhibit greater responsibility and comply with regulations while driving. Consequently, these measures contribute towards fostering a more responsible attitude among drivers towards observing traffic rules.

Secondly, authorities should facilitate companies and employers in implementing flexible work schedules for their employees. This serves to alleviate stress among individuals and encourages conscientiousness in adhering to regulations while driving. From my standpoint, certain psychological conditions serve as catalysts for driving offenses, and governmental bodies have the potential to preempt such circumstances.

In conclusion, the primary reason for traffic offenses is attributed to multitasking and haste. The enforcement of stringent measures and flexible work schedules contributes towards cultivating a community of chauffeurs who respect road regulations.

Improved Sentences

- Original: The impetus to arrive at destinations on time is often the main cause of traffic violations.
- Improved: The drive to reach destinations punctually is frequently the leading factor behind traffic violations.
- Reason: The improved sentence provides a clearer explanation by using 'drive' instead of 'impetus' and 'leading factor' instead of 'main cause'.
- Original: Furthermore, many car drivers engage in multitasking and are preoccupied with various concerns while behind the wheel.
- Improved: Moreover, numerous car drivers multitask and are preoccupied with diverse concerns while driving.
- Reason: The improved sentence uses 'numerous' instead of 'many', 'multitask' instead of 'engage in multitasking', and 'diverse concerns' instead of 'various concerns'.
- Original: Secondly, authorities should facilitate companies and employers in implementing flexible work schedules for their employees.
- Improved: Secondly, governing bodies ought to assist corporations and employers in instituting adaptable work timetables for their staff.
- Reason: The improved sentence uses 'governing bodies' instead of 'authorities', 'assist' instead of 'facilitate', 'corporations' instead of 'companies', and 'adaptable work timetables' instead of 'flexible work schedules'.

Suggested better vocabulary

- prevalent tendency
- punctually
- promptly
- infringements
- intensify penalties
- revoke
- distraction
- catalysts
- pivotal role
- multitasking
- fostering
- responsible attitude
- cultivating chauffeurs

▼ Detailed Feedback and Analysis

Sentence: many countries there is a widespread tendency of systematic disregard for traffic regulations among drivers.

Error Type: Grammatical Range and Accuracy

Error: The sentence lacks subject-verb agreement. It should be "In many countries, there is a widespread tendency..."

Correction: In many countries, there is a widespread tendency...

Explanation: The error lies in the incorrect subject-verb agreement. "Many countries" is plural, so the verb "is" should be changed to "are."

Sentence: For instance, statistical data reveals a majority of infractions occur during peak hours when individuals are rushing to return home or commute to work.

Error Type: Coherence and Cohesion

Error: The sentence lacks coherence as it jumps from discussing statistical data to individuals' rush without proper connection.

Correction: For instance, statistical data reveals that a majority of infractions occur during peak hours when individuals are rushing to return home or commute to work due to the desire to reach their destinations punctually.

Explanation: By adding the reason for individuals rushing in relation to statistical data, the sentence becomes more coherent.

Sentence: Furthermore, many car drivers engage in multitasking and are preoccupied with various concerns while behind the wheel.

Error Type: Lexical Resource

Error: "Car drivers" can be replaced with "drivers" for better lexical resource usage.

Correction: Furthermore, many drivers engage in multitasking and are preoccupied with various concerns while behind the wheel.

Explanation: Using "car drivers" is redundant as it is already implied that they are driving cars.

Action Plan:

The major concern in your essay seems to be grammatical range and accuracy. You need to focus on improving your subject-verb agreement and ensuring that your sentences are grammatically correct. Additionally, work on enhancing coherence and cohesion by connecting ideas more effectively within your paragraphs.

By practicing more complex sentence structures and paying attention to subject-verb agreement rules, you can improve your grammatical range and accuracy. Also, try using transition words or phrases to connect ideas within your essay for better coherence and cohesion.

Share with your friend and get 2 free essay evaluation

Your Referral Code

C6VFX

or Referral Link

https://smriti.co/ielts-writing-checker?referral=C6VFX

